Day 1 (Morning Session): EMOTIONALLY DISABLED ... OR JUST TROUBLED?

Is Oppositional Defiant Disorder (ODD) a disability under IDEIA? Should students diagnosed with disruptive behavior, anxiety, or bipolar disorders be served by special education? Are students diagnosed with ODD, Conduct Disorder, or Behavior Disorder - or those involved with gang-related activities, drug use, or aggression - protected by the IDEIA's discipline rules? This presentation will provide an overview of the case law involving students with behavioral and emotional disorders. This session will help you understand when, and if, students with these problems should be determined to be eligible for special education and related services and, consequently, protected by the IDEIA's discipline rules.

Day 1 (Afternoon Session): THE 7 DEADLY SINS OF DUE PROCESS HEARING

Don't succumb to the "seven deadly sins" that can sink your next (or first) due process hearing! Learn how to avoid common mistakes such as inadequate document preparation, poor witness preparation and performance, and failure to listen to counsel's advice. Activities include role-playing, audience participation, case law studies, real-life horror stories, and more. Don't wait for a due process hearing to become an unfortunate "professional development opportunity" - learn the most common mistakes before you litigate.

Day 2 (All Day): A YEAR IN REVIEW 2007-08

Get ready for a fast-paced, comprehensive review of federal and state court decisions affecting special education! Attorney, Melinda Baird, brings her national presentation focusing on cases that set important precedents and that illustrate what NOT to do. In addition, Ms. Baird adds her unique commentary, expert tips, and professional insight to help you avoid unnecessary litigation and IDEIA, Section 504, and NCLB. Get ready for a whirl-wind tour of what the courts are saying!
